U.S. planes have damaged roads and bridges so badly in North Vietnam's panhandle that the enemy is stepping up attempts to move war supplies by boat, American sources report.

Fifteen years after the Korean cease fire there is little peace along the demilitarized zone and North Koreans hold an American ship and crew.

Senator Kennedy Rules Out Vice Presidential Nomination

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, still grieving the assassination of his brother Robert, cut off Friday any consideration of himself for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Kennedy had been prominently mentioned as a potential vice presidential candidate ever since Robert was killed last month in California just after he had won the state's Democratic presidential primary.

The Massachusetts senator ended speculation and pressure by prominent Democrats with a terse statement indicating his decision was irrevocable and was based on compelling personal reasons.

Kennedy's action intensified consideration of other possibilities for the nomination and put added pressure on the presidential campaign of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The statement, issued by Kennedy's Boston office, said:

Korean Cease Fire Anniversary

SEOUL (AP)—The cease-fire ending the Korean War is 15 years old Saturday but there is little peace along the 151 miles of the demilitarized zone stretching across the waist of the divided nation.

Border clashes with North Korean infiltrators so far this year already number 200, compared with 37 in 1966. It was in October of 1966 that North Korea began to step up infiltration.

Since then, the clashes have broken out almost nightly, with U.S. and South Korean troops stalking North Koreans who slip through the zone bent on stirring up trouble.

Statistics compiled by the United Nations Command show this toll, mostly from fighting since the fall of 1966:

U.S. dead 33, wounded 95; South Korean dead 188; North Korean casualties, about 2,000 killed or captured.

Tournament of Drums Today

The Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department's sixth annual Tournament of Drums will take place at 6 p.m. Saturday on Memorial Field. The Marion Cadets of Marion, Ohio, will defend their champion title in the pageant.

Acutal celebration of the yearly festival began Thursday evening with an auction sale at Memorial Field. Sheffield residents contributed numerous items to be auctioned in the kick-off of the firemen's gala.

The home-town style carnival also began Thursday evening at Memorial Field. It features kiddie rides, concession stands and the ever-popular pony rides.

Saturday's events open with a breakfast at the fire hall, prepared by the VFD Ladies Auxiliary. At 3 p.m. the parade will start marching. After forming near the Forest View Roller Rink on West Main st., it will move down West Main to South Main, continue on to Church st., and disband on Center Street.

The Tournament of Drums itself will start at 6 p.m. Vying in the competition with the Marion Cadets will be the Cabeleros of Cleveland, Ohio; the Junior Catholic Daughters of America, Butler, Pa.; the Scarborough Firefighters of Scarborough, Ontario, Canada; and St. John's Girls, also Canadians, from Brantford, Ontario.

"Riley's Bugle Band" of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry Regiment in Hamilton, Ontario will present an exhibition, as will the Sheffield Twirlettes.

The grand prize, a 1968 Zenith Home Entertainment Center, will be awarded at Memorial Field following the teenage record hop. The announcement should be made around 11 p.m.

The Sheffield Civic Association will operate the concession stand. All proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of the recent addition to Sheffield playground building facilities.

Czechoslovakians Urged To Defend Reforms To Death

PRAGUE (AP)—Liberals urged Czechoslovak Communist leaders in an editorial open letter Friday to defend to the death the country's reformist program against attacks by the Soviet Union and its orthodox allies.

Alexander Dubcek's regime was warned by editors of Literarni Listy, a writers' weekly and mouthpiece of the liberal elite, that "the fate of our nation" is at stake in an impending showdown conference with the Soviet Communist party's Politburo.

"That for which we are striving can be summed up in the words: Socialism, alliance, sovereignty, freedom," the newspaper said in an extra edition of some 300,000 copies.

"Negotiate, explain, but unyieldingly defend the road on which we have started and which we will not leave alive. You are writing for us a fateful page in the history of Czechoslovakia."

Various other Czechoslovak newspapers announced they would reprint the letter. That meant expanded circulation in this nation of 14 million, which has turned from hard-liners after two decades of Communist rule.

Dubcek declared the Czechoslovak party presidium is preparing for the talks with the Russians with unanimity.

Foreign Trade Minister Václav Vales returned from commercial talks with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and other Soviet authorities in Moscow with a report of some agreements, some snags.

Vales said Kosygin had assured him the Soviet Union would not try to apply economic pressure to this country at the coming meeting.

The Soviet premier was quoted as saying: "We will not come with any initiative for changes in the character of existing commercial relations. We will adapt ourselves to our demands."

Vales told newsmen the Moscow talks had been successful and he cited such things as Soviet acceptance of a Czechoslovak proposal for a threefold increase in car supplies in 1969—a boost from 7,000 cars to about 20,000.

The developments came amid rumors that the ruling body of the Czechoslovak Communist party, the 11-man presidium, was split on how to react to Russian pressure at the meeting with the Soviet Politburo, which is expected to begin next week.

Attorney General Clark Raps Fortas Opponents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark's criticism of senators opposing confirmation of Abe Fortas as chief justice drew angry response Friday.

And Fortas came under fresh attack on the Senate floor for his rulings in obscenity cases. This was coupled with a demand that his nomination be withdrawn.

Three senators who have not previously joined in the opposition to the promotion of Justice Fortas sharply challenged Clark's assertion that this opposition is dominated by political partisanship and opposition to civil rights legislation.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, Massachusetts Republican and only Negro in the Senate, said Clark's views were given "improperly and without justification" in a Thursday press interview. And he demanded that the Cabinet member apologize for what Brooke called an attack on the integrity and voting records of Republicans opposing Fortas.

Sens. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., promptly associated themselves with Brooke's indictment of Clark.

Pearson called Clark's remarks "unfair and unworthy . . . press relations blackmail, an attack on the integrity of the Senate."

Similarly, Cooper described Clark's assessment as "wholly unfair . . . a most reprehensible method of attack."

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, told the Senate Fortas has joined in court decisions on obscenity which Miller said are destructive of moral standards. And he called on President Johnson to withdraw his nomination of Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Police Raiding Party Search Cleveland Buildings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A raiding party of police and National Guardsmen searched two hotels and a house on Cleveland's calmed down East Side Friday for hidden weapons of black nationalists. They found none.

A few jeep and police car patrols continued in areas where a gun battle that killed three white police and seven Negroes Tuesday night touched off arson and looting which a nighttime curfew brought in check Thursday.

Except for the stronger law enforcement, the daytime appearance of the area was back to normal. Stores were open as usual, glass from broken windows had largely been cleaned up.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes said he would decide late Friday whether to continue a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew. "Today we will be trying to get everything back to normal," he said.

A 35-man search squad raided a house near Lakeview and Auburndale where Tuesday night's shooting started, and two hotels some 20 blocks away at one of the most restive corners.

"We were told about six militants, including three wounded men, were holed up somewhere in the area," Lt. Richard Vina of the special investigation squad said. "So far we have failed to find any weapons or suspects."

He didn't say where the police got their information. Black nationalists, of which there are many sects in Cleveland, own property in the two areas.

Sister Mary's Restaurant, one of their enterprises near the raided premises, was used as a headquarters Wednesday night by members of the mayor's civilian peacekeeping squad, many of whom were among the city's best known nationalists.

Three men were arrested in a hotel room on East 106th St. by raiders who said they found televisions, radios, adding machines, diamond rings and other possible loot from the burnings and break-ins.

POWER PLANT STRIKE

Tom Swanson of Frewsburg (left) and Angelo Ditonto Jr., of Warren, members of Local 348 of the Ironworkers Union, picket Westinghouse Electric at the entrance to the Seneca Power Plant along Rt. 59. About 17 union members went on strike at 6 a.m. Friday for, as the sign says, an alleged violation of a National Joint Board agreement. Westinghouse, which has a subcontract with the general contracting firm, Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., for installation of power house equipment, agreed about two weeks ago with the union joint board on which unions would be involved with various aspects of the construction, union members said. The strike was called, they said, when Westinghouse failed to designate Ironworkers' union members for the jobs agreed on in negotiations with the joint board. The strike brought work on the $40-million project to a standstill as only maintenance and supervisory personnel reported to work. Preliminary talks between the union and Westinghouse were reported, but the outcome was not known. Officials of Westinghouse were not available for comment.

Police Search For Checks

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — City and state police with members of the FBI are conducting a massive search for persons having some $34,000 worth of misprinted New York Telephone Company checks.

The telephone company reported the checks missing July 11, according to police, but offered no explanation for the disappearance.

Police said several of the payroll checks, printed on official company paper, have already been cashed in Buffalo, Syracuse and other large western New York cities. They said the checks have been cashed in denominations of $250 and $300.

Companies Appeal Fire Settlement

OIL CITY—Seven insurance companies filed an appeal Wednesday in Venango County court in a damage case for Hesson Heights Bowling Lanes of Oil City. The verdict returned Friday amounted to nearly $116,000.

The verdict set damages at $106,000 plus interest of nearly $10,000 from Jan. 3, 1967, against Mutual Insurance Co. of Berks County and six other firms associated as preferred mutual underwriters.

Hesson Heights Bowling Lanes, owned by Stephen K. Zulioski of 39 E. Bissell ave., Oil City, were destroyed along with the Riverside Market in a fire Sept. 24, 1966.

DIDN'T HURT A BIT

WELLS, England (AP)—An ultrasonic dental drill was used by Richard Scott, a ceramics conservator on the staff of London's Victoria and Albert Museum, to remove corrosion and deposits of lime and lichen from a 13th century stained glass window in Wells Cathedral. The drill was never allowed to touch the window. Instead a tiny jet of water carried ultrasonic vibrations, 25,000 a second, to the working surface.

Voting League Receives New National Chart

Members of the League of Women Voters of Warren Area welcomed the new chart, "Get Ready to Vote," from their national directors this week, since supplying the citizenry with nonpartisan voting information is one of the group's projects.

"This is a colorful reference piece that everyone can understand, and for many people it could mean the difference between voting and not voting in the presidential election next fall," commented Mrs. T. K. Stratton, president of the Warren League.

Every state is listed on the chart. The absentee voting section will help the many mobile families moving back and forth across the United States, as well as the 21-year-olds who may be away from home in November. Warren newcomers will welcome it, too.

"How to vote absentee is clearly spelled out in this leaflet," Mrs. Stratton said. "So are when to register, qualifications in each state, which states require an official application for an absentee ballot, and when the ballots have to be returned in order to count."

Local industries who seek to keep their employees informed are expected to find the chart of use for bulletin boards. The leaflet is also of interest to teachers, students, labor unions and libraries.

Postmaster Frank A. Fago this week put it on display in the Warren post office lobby. His action follows the wish expressed by the U.S. postmaster general for the dissemination of information advising citizens of state registrations and election laws. "Get Ready to Vote" may be ordered from Mrs. James Potter, 313 Prospect st., at 15 cents a copy or for less in quantity. Inquiries may also be made to the League of Women Voters of the United States, 1200 17th St., N. W., Washington, D.C., 20036.

Registration at the Warren county courthouse will close Sept. 16. New voters should be citizens, 21 years of age by Nov. 4, residents of Pennsylvania for 90 days and in their voting districts for 60 days prior to election. Those who have not voted for two years or have changed their names or moved from one district to another must re-register.

Fringe Benefits Offered In Steel Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A still-secret industry wage-pension offer of nearly 90 cents an hour was reported under consideration Friday by the United Steelworkers Union in a new three-year contract that would avert a nationwide walkout of 388,000 men next Thursday.

"I'd grab that," said one local union leader who heard the news in a hotel lobby exploding with optimistic scintillations.

The economic package—which will undergo thorough checking over the weekend, and possibly even some revision—reportedly provides for a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase immediately, and 13 cents more in each of the next two years. Current pay ranges from $2.45 to $4.70—an average of $3.84 per hour.

It will be presented to the union's 600-man Basic Steel Industry Conference on Monday afternoon which can accept or reject. Or even extend the current pact a distinct possibility, said one union source — so last ditch snags can be ironed out.

With the strike deadline less than six days away the atmosphere at all levels of negotiations was quiet, with many union men betting against any walkout.

"We'll have a settlement, and a good one," boasted one steelworker's leader.

Under the reported proposal, pensions would go up 50 per cent, giving steelworkers $7.50 a month for every year worked, with eligibility beginning after 30 years' service. They now get $5.

It also allegedly contains some improvement in incentives—though hardly enough for several militant local leaders who report men may strike despite any settlement, "if the new wage contract does not adequately include extended incentive coverage for workers now uncovered."

"The threat to strike has become increasingly ominous as the deadline date approaches."

Released U.S. Fliers Fail To Arrive

VIETNAMESE, Laos (AP) — Three American airmen released from captivity eight days ago in Hanoi failed to arrive here as expected Friday night.

The pilots—Maj. James F. Low, 43, of Sausalito, Calif., a Korean War ace shot down by a missile Dec. 16, 1967; Maj. Fred Neale Thompson, 32, of Taylor, S.C., captured last March 20; and Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, of Victorville, Calif., captured last Feb. 15—had been expected aboard the weekly international Control Commission flight from the North Vietnamese capital.

It was the second time the fliers had been expected on the ICC flight, the only scheduled air service linking North Vietnam and outside countries that does not pass through Communist China.

A French couple who traveled on the plane Friday night said they had seen the pilots and the three-member American peace group at the Metropole Hotel in Hanoi.

"They are living very well," the Frenchman said.

U.S. Embassy officials, including Ambassador William A. Sullivan, waited at the airport and said they had no idea of the whereabouts of the pilots.

Hanoi announced July 18 the three had been released from captivity and broadcast statements purporting to have been made by them expressing gratitude. But they did not emerge the next day, as expected, and later reports said they were being taken on a tour of North Vietnam.

The national VFW is also backing the measure, Winger stated.

Winger was installed by Frank Hilton of Meadville during the recent state VFW convention held in Philadelphia. Hilton, national past commander and chief, also installed Eugene R. Mauney of Warren as State Commander.

Post Offices Cut Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring last-minute congressional action, Americans will be faced Saturday for the first time in 11 years with no Saturday business hours at their local post offices—and mail collections will be on a less frequent schedule.

Mail deliveries will not be affected, and it will still be possible to pick up general delivery letters and parcels for a couple of hours during the morning.

Although the Post Office Department has announced that starting Aug. 2 it will close 347 fourth-class post offices, a post office official says this number has been trimmed to 314, and 205 will be closed between Saturday and Aug. 2—one week ahead of the announced schedule.

The Saturday post office closings and reductions in Saturday pickup services—they will be placed on the Sunday holiday schedule—are the first of a series of cutbacks planned by Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson in line with a congressional order that all government agencies must trim their employment rolls to the levels of 1966. This would mean a loss of 83,238 employees for the postal service.

Watson has tried unsuccessfully so far, to persuade Congress to exempt the post office from the order.

The post office's announced schedule for cuts in service includes:

Aug. 2: Closing 250 fourth-class post offices in which permanent postmaster vacancies have not been filled.

Aug. 30: Closing an additional 97 fourth-class offices.

Sept. 1: Deadline for postmasters to submit to the department localized plans for ending Saturday mail deliveries in residential areas. The effective date is to be set later.

Eventually the post office plans to close 12,000 more third-class and fourth-class post offices. It may also cut residential deliveries from five days to four days a week, and business deliveries to once-a-day, five-day service.

Currently there are 32,259 post offices. Of these, 4,953 are first-class, 7,358 are second-class, 12,911 are third-class and 7,037 are fourth-class. Services provided by fourth-class post offices would, if they are closed, be handled by rural letter-carriers from their vehicles.

Watson contends that the post office needs more employees to handle an ever-increasing flow of mail. The department handled 82 billion pieces of mail last year and expects 84 billion this year.

The manpower reduction, it was claimed, would enable the post office to handle only 75 billion.

Area Singing Group Starts Own Company

ERIE — There is a lot of glamour in the record industry — money, concert tours, travel, audience adoration. But underneath it is a competitive industry in which it is becoming more and more difficult to survive.

The Arkay IV decided in November, 1966 that they didn't like the business that way. So they formed the Kay Art Music Co., an independent music publishing service, and licensed Marion Records, a record label owned by the group.

Yet while the business side of recording is interesting, the writing and recording of songs is the chief interest of the Arkay IV. Skip Niebauer, 22, the leader of the group, and Dave Massello, 21, organist, have written two singles for the four-man group, plus enough material for an album, to be released in August.

Niebauer plays bass. The other two members of the Arkay IV are Vil Stomers, 23, guitar and vocals, and John Nicotra, 21, percussion. Their album will be the first released in Erie since rock music began.

Election set

The Warren County Re-development Authority will elect officers at its annual meeting to be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement conference room of the Warren County Court House.

The authority will also appoint a board member and discuss procedures for leasing part of the land acquired in the Liberty st. renewal project.

Quaker Lake Recreational Facility Being Formed

Lowering himself down 40-foot manhole on June 15, an employee of the Allegheny State Park turned a huge valve and turned off the discharge of Quaker Run into the Allegheny Reservoir.

His action started the formation of a 300 acre lake which promises to become one of the truly outstanding recreational highlights of the entire Kinzua Dam recreational complex.

Quaker Lake, being formed by the impounded waters of Quaker Run has been designed to provide a focal point for a wide variety of recreational attractions being planned for construction in the southernmost part of New York State's largest state park. It is the only impoundment planned for the perimeter of the Allegheny Reservoir that will maintain a constant water level.

Around its shore line, within the next couple of years, will be 900 campsites, a swimming beach, boat launching ramps, fishing piers and a network of scenic drives.

Quaker Run has long been known as an outstanding trout stream so area fishermen are enthused over the prospects of the lake developing into a veritable fisherman's paradise. Extensive stocking of the lake with trout has been promised by the New York State Conservation Department.

Boating on the lake will be restricted to non-motorized craft. Canoes, rowboats and sailboats will be permitted and provision for mooring will be made. In detailing the proposed development of Quaker Lake Lee Batterson, regional park manager for New York State, said it could be expected the lake would reach its level by October of this year, that construction of roads and the swimming beach, as well as the stocking of the lake with trout, would be started next Spring and that other development would follow in order as quickly as planning could be completed and contracts let.

The new development surrounding Quaker Lake will be tied into the existing recreational complex in the Quaker Run area of the park that has been in operation for several years. This complex includes rental cabins, group cabins, swimming pool, tennis courts and an administration center and several miles of nature and hiking trails.

Because of the new lake's proximity to the Allegheny Reservoir, Batterson expects Quaker Lake to provide a bonanza of outdoor activity for his state.

Labor Dept. Reports $60,000 In Construction

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — The State Department of Labor and Industry said yesterday that more than $60,000 worth of construction activities were reported in Warren County in May as a requisite to starting construction or major repair projects.

Thirty-two permits were issued in the county in May authorizing construction or repair projects with an aggregate cost of $61,387.

Two of the projects undertaken were residential buildings with a total value of $32,000. Five others were nonhousekeeping residential projects at a cost of $5500, and the remaining 25 were classified as additions, alterations, repairs and installations costing $23,887.

The number of building permits and the dollar volume of work authorized in Warren County communities requiring permits included:

Warren 26 permits for $45,887; Clarendon, three for $1,000; and Farmington Township, three for $14,500. Youngsville reported no building activity during May.

Farmers May Form Own Corporation

ERIE—North East area farmers may form a small corporation to help launch the new wine-producing industry, according to George F. Luke, chairman of the State Grape Marketing Advisory Council and a member of the wine subcommittee.

Legislation recently passed by both houses in Harrisburg and signed by Gov. Raymond Shafer allows individual farmers to produce a maximum of 50,000 gallons of wine a year. It also permits them to sell the wine at their farms.

The North East group hopes to concentrate on high-quality table wines with a subtle bouquet.

"We now have a limited volume and need each other's help to get started...another four or five years will tell a different story. Some will probably branch off on their own," the North East growers stated.

Camp Openings Remain For County Children

A few openings remain for Warren County children to take part in a two-week day camp program with youngsters from Pittsburgh, to be held in August.

The project is sponsored jointly by the Church and Society Committee of the First Presbyterian Church and two inner city Pittsburgh Presbyterian churches in cooperation with the ecumenical Northside Christian Ministry of Pittsburgh.

Children are eligible who have completed fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, or eighth grade.

A group of 42 young people from Pittsburgh will arrive in Warren August 11 to live in the homes of Warren families. The day camp program, which includes, nature study, art, crafts, music, games, dancing and dramatics, will be held principally at Camp Kirkwood on Jackson Run rd. The program also calls for swimming at the YMCA and cookouts, campfires, an overnight camp-out, and vespers. Part of the program will be held at the church.

A primary purpose of the camp is to provide an opportunity for the children to understand each others culture. "Insofar as the children of Warren County are deprived of immediate experience of life

Rocky Tops Nixon In County Poll

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Republican State Committee released results of a poll Friday showing that Nelson Rockefeller would do measurably better than Richard Nixon in Allegheny County were the presidential election held now.

The poll was the second tally of an urban area to be issued by state Republicans this week. A poll of Philadelphia made public Wednesday by U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott projected that, where as Nixon would lose that city by 450,000 votes, against Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Rockefeller's deficit there would be only 50,000.

Republican State Chairman John C. Jordan said the Rockefeller figures would conform with the over-all GOP strategy of taking small losses in traditionally Democratic urban areas in order to win the state.

Allegheny County, with a 3-1 Democratic registration center in Pittsburgh, gave Rockefeller 46 per cent of the vote to 39 per cent for Humphrey in the sampling by E. John Bucc, who also conducted the Philadelphia poll.

The projection also showed Rockefeller beating Sen. Eugene McCarthy by a smaller margin, 45 to 42.

Nixon fared poorly against Humphrey, with an estimated 34 per cent against 52 per cent for the vice president, according to the poll.

Philadelphia gave Humphrey 60 per cent to Nixon's 20. With Rockefeller as the GOP candidate, Humphrey's percentage slipped to 46, with the New York governor taking 43 per cent of the vote.

The combined results from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh foreshadow a Rockefeller victory in Pennsylvania by 46,000 votes, if Hubert Humphrey were the Democratic nominee, Jordan said.

If Nixon were the candidate, the GOP would go down in the state by 488,000 votes, he added, "and in Philadelphia it would be worse than in 1964."

Republican Barry Goldwater lost Philadelphia by 430,000 votes in the last presidential election. Asked what the campaigning attitude of state Republicans would be if Nixon were the nominee and party workers had to solicit votes mindful of pessimistic poll, Jordan quoted Rockefeller and Ray Bliss, the national GOP chairman.

"Dick Nixon said he would devote more time to urban areas in his campaign, which he did not do in 1960," Jordan said. "And Ray Bliss has always said that the Republican Party must appeal to urban areas if it is to win."

Council Schedules Special Session

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown city Council will be called into another special session Monday night.

President Fred J. Anderson said the council will act on an application to the state to obtain more money for Chada-Koin Park.

Anderson said a resolution will be presented for council approval to add 31 acres to the park which has been under preliminary development for the past few years. The 31 acres will bring the total acreage of the new park to 165 and will be used for a new football field, golf course, a center for senior citizens activities, six tennis courts and a children's playground.

The city council president said $17,000 was appropriated in the 1968 city budget to pay the local share. The state of New York will pay 75 per cent of the acquisition cost estimated at $2,000 per acre. Some additional monies are expected to be forthcoming from the county board of supervisors.

The 31 acres are located south of the area now being developed for park use and include the plot of land located at 11th and Monroe sts. which the municipal transit commission had originally hoped to have for a new bus garage. The planning commission on the other hand had selected the same area for a public housing project.

Should the council approve the resolution to purchase the 31 acres the municipal transit commission will once again be in the market for a location for its new bus garage. All sites for the bus garage thus far suggested have been rejected as completely unsatisfactory.

Fire Truck, Car Collide

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — A city fire truck on its way to an alarm at radio station WJTN, collided with a car at Second street and Washington here Thursday afternoon.

Glen E. Barnhart, 40, of Ashville, N. Y., driver of the car was treated at Jamestown General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

None of the firemen on the truck driven by Edward Evencik, 40 Howard avenue, Jamestown, was injured.

Another fire truck was dispatched to station WJTN in the Hotel Jamestown. A short in the air conditioning unit there caused minor damage, according to fire officials.

150,006 Acres of Forest Affected by Infestation

By FRANKLIN R. HOFF
Robert R. Ache, District Forester, Pa. Department of Forests and Waters Dist. 14, reports that, from their recently completed semi-annual aerial survey, about 150,000 acres of timberland have been found affected by infestation of the fall cankerworm during the past three years, in Warren, Forest, Crawford and Erie Counties.

Because of repeated defoliation over a period of two to three years, in many areas the trees have died. Destruction of trees as a result of attacks of cankerworms during the past two or three seasons can be observed, Ache says, from the highway, almost anywhere along Route 77 between Spring Creek and Meadville. Crawford and parts of Erie County have been hardest hit, he adds.

"One bright spot in this situation," says Ache, "is that, fortunately, a large percentage of timber affected by cankerworm defoliation can be salvaged as it stands. Deterioration that might affect the quality of the timber will not take place for several years."

Anyone owning timberland in this region would be advised to take a close look at it, to see the effect on their particular timber stand. By consulting a professional forester -- such as private consultants, industrial foresters or service foresters of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, advice and help can be readily obtained concerning the harvesting and marketing of such timber. As an indication of the serious financial losses suffered by woodland owners as a result of the cankerworm epidemic during the past three years, Ache cites the case of one Crawford County land owner who produces between 1,200 and 1,500 gallons of maple syrup each spring, who has lost 30 percent or more of his maple syrup producing trees.

Another area that was being used as a part of a research project on seed production studies, was defoliated, and the number of trees killed was large enough so this one area involved in the research project had to be abandoned. The Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters is cooperating with the U.S. Forest Research Laboratory at Buckaloons in carrying out this seed production study, a three-year project.

District Forester Ache and his staff plan to make intensive surveys, in an attempt to arrive at some estimate of the tremendous dollar loss incurred through this three year canker worm epidemic.

"This particular insect," Robert Ache observes, "spends the summer months in the ground in the larval state. The reason we have not experienced an epidemic of the canker worm again this year is that a virus attacked the larvae in the ground, reducing the infestation accordingly."

At the present time, according to Ache, the only known method of control is through aerial spraying with pesticides. All Pennsylvania State forestlands -- particularly 100,000 acres treated from the air in Potter County, have shown highly satisfactory results. This Potter County area had suffered two successive years of defoliation. A third year would have killed the major portion of the trees. This required immediate drastic measures. The area included such valuable timber species as cherry, ash and maple.

Mormon Festival Begins July 29

More than 100,000 persons are expected to visit Palmyra, N.Y., to see a dramatization of events recorded in the Book of Mormon, a book recognized as scripture by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The traditional Hill Cumorah pageant, as the dramatization is called, will be presented this year from July 29 through August 3, beginning at 9 p.m. This year's pageant will have a cast of more than 450.

The Hill Cumorah, not far from the home of the church's founder, Joseph Smith, is located between Palmyra and Manchester, N.Y. About 25 miles southeast of Rochester, it stands four miles south of Palmyra and two miles north of Manchester Interchange, New York Thruway Exit 43. According to Mormon beliefs, a resurrected ancient American prophet named Moroni ap-

Senatorial Candidate Censured

OIL CITY -- For the second time in recent weeks a candidate for state senator in the 25th district was censured by resolutions in a public meeting.

At their regular meeting Thursday night, Cranberry Township supervisors passed three resolutions calling upon Harold H. Blum, RD 2, Oil City and a write-in candidate for the Republican seat of Senator Richard C. Frame, to document his statements to substantiate charges of malfeasance in office of the supervisors or the misappropriation of funds by the supervisors of Cranberry-Township County General Authority and further that he (Blum) bring an appropriate action in a court of law having jurisdiction over these matters or otherwise cease, desist and refrain from such unfounded accusations.

Blum reportedly has charged the supervisors during his campaign with misuse or misapplication of some $500,000 in funds obtained for a sewage project in the township.

The supervisors also called upon the Postmaster General of the United States to look into the use of the mails for the purpose of the candidate's carrying his incorrect information through the mails to the voters of the district.

The Cranberry Area School District recently took similar action against the candidate for charges he reportedly made against that body.

Fireman Killed In Collision

TITUSVILLE--A city fireman died shortly after the speeding fire truck he was riding and a tractor trailer rig collided Thursday on Route 27, one mile east of Titusville.

A second fireman received multiple injuries.

Wilson Lewis Schlosser, 54, of Titusville, died of chest injuries at Titusville Hospital Thursday evening.

Schlosser was riding on the back of a Titusville Fire Department truck when, according to Meadville-based state police, it was struck by the tractor trailer rig. He was thrown from the truck.

Marcus Wolvert, 53, of Leeper, Pa., driver of the rig, escaped injury.

A second fireman, Dennis F. Harle, 26, also of Titusville was treated at the hospital and released.

The fire department truck was en route to a truck fire on Route 27, Chief Al L'Hullier said. The disabled fire truck radioed for help and another fire truck was dispatched to the fire. L'Hullier listed damage to the fire truck at $16,000. Loss at the fire it was rushing to was slight, he said.

Conservation Education Program Set for Schools

By FRANKLIN R. HOFF

As a result of a recent agreement entered into between the Warren County School District and the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District, a long-term land use plan and conservation education program has been undertaken. All schools throughout Warren County, both elementary and secondary will be involved.

As outlined by John R. Reddick, executive Secretary of the Warren Co. Soil and Water District, a master land use plan is being prepared jointly under supervision of Lyle Cathcart, Soil Conservation Work Unit Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture; and Robert Ache, District Forester, Pa. Dept. of Forests and Waters Dist. 14. The project will provide a continuing program for conservation education in the schools.

The land use plan includes soil erosion control, soil stabilizing and drainage, tree planting and reforestation, and management of existing wood lots. Previous to the formation of the new Warren County School District, Warren Boro School District, under a similar arrangement, conducted a program of conservation education in Warren High School. A special elective course for Seniors was offered each year. Jack Reddick was instructor for fifteen years previous to his recent retirement.

Woodlands and other areas in the Warren Area High School properties were developed, trees planted, and conservation practices established. One of the first projects since the new agreement between the school district and the conservation district was entered into the planting of a thousand trees at Eisenhower High School by its vocational-agriculture class. This operation was supervised by Eisenhower vocational-agriculture instructor Raymond Carey; Bob Popielski and Charles Thompson, service foresters Pa. Dept. of Forests and Waters; Jack Reddick; and others.

Eisenhower School recently acquired abandoned farm land adjacent to its property, and the entire area will be developed under the program.

As a part of the program, Bob Cerutti, soil scientist with U.S. Soil Conservation Service is conducting a soil survey at Eisenhower School. All soil types will be carefully mapped. Other phases of the master plan will be completely outlined by Lyle Cathcart of Soil Conservation Service, Bob Ache of Pa. Dept. of Forests and Waters, and officials of the Pa. Game Commission and Pennsylvania Fish Commission. The combined project will ultimately cover Youngsville High School and Elementary School, Pittsfield Elementary, and all other school properties in the County.

Eisenhower High School lands total 120 acres. Warren Area High School has 108 acres already under development. Youngsville schools include 30 acres and Pittsfield schools 25 acres.

The land use plan, and conservation practices will fit the requirements of each area, to protect the land, which may be required for any future expansion of school facilities. It will also provide out-of-door education and recreation areas, as well as demonstrate practices for good land management. The Warren County School Board is actively supporting the entire program.

All this is made possible, explains Jack Reddick, not only for school districts, but for political subdivisions and for individuals, because of the establishment of the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District 20 years ago in 1948.

With the establishment of the District, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service assigned a unit to Warren County to implement the District's needs. The Conservation District was organized under laws enacted for this purpose, by the Warren County Commissioners. Cooperating agencies in addition to Soil Conservation Service include the Agriculture Extension Office, Bernard Wingert, County Agent; Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Charles Camp, county committee chairman; Pa. Dept. of Forests and Waters, Robert Ache, District Forester; Pa. Dept. of Highways, Robert D. Shattuck, roadside development engineer; Pa. Fish Commission, Ken Corey, fish warden; Pa. Game Commission, William Overturn, land manager; Farmers Home Administration, Robert Meneely, county supervisor; and Vocational Agriculture, Dr. Bryan Decker, area supervisor.

The second phase of the program will be concerned with the conservation education program. In addition to the present courses and projects in county high schools, it is hoped to develop within the next several years a program that will involve the first five grades of elementary schools.

Officers of the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District are: Chairman, Gerald Bensink; vice-chairman Alan P. Lindell; County Commissioner member Dr. David K. Rice; Elmer O. Blystone and James G. Marshall.

Word 'Appeasement' Haunts Europe 30 Years After Munich

Once again, the word "appeasement" haunts Europe.

Just 30 years ago, Czechoslovakia lost her freedom, an event which made the name of the German city of Munich a symbol of the failure of sacrificial appeasement to the appetites of dictators. Munich was the curtain raiser to the greatest war in history.

Czechoslovakia then was forced to bow to enormous superior military power. The nation's misfortune was its geography, its strategic location in the heart of Europe.

Today, Czechoslovakia faces a new ultimatum, in large measure because geography makes her the exposed western nerve of the Soviet-dominated Warsaw military pact.

Czechoslovakia's new, reform-minded leaders are under the heaviest of military, political and economic pressure from the Russians to reverse their liberalization course or face dire consequences.

The writers whose thirst for more freedom under Communist rule sparked the reform movement make an impassioned plea to the ruling presidium of the Czechoslovak party: "We are writing you on the eve of your meeting with the Soviet Politburo at which you will negotiate the fate of the nation. . . . You are writing for us a fateful page in the history of Czechoslovakia. Write it with care, but above all with daring."

As they were in 1938, the Czechoslovaks today are defiant. The newspaper Literarni Listy, organ of the writers, carried the open-letter plea.

But, as in 1938, the pressure is severe. And, as was the case 30 years ago, there is no sign of help for Czechoslovakia from the nations of the West, obviously fearful that interference can mean war.

It was 30 years ago this month that the Czechoslovak-Nazi crisis began to heat up. Encouraged by other countries' failure to act either against his remilitarization of the Rhineland or his seizure of Austria, Adolf Hitler demanded the Sudetenland with a large minority population of Germans.

Hitler raised the pressure steadily. Prague looked to its allies, France and Britain, for support. The French began mobilizing. Britain mobilized her home fleet. The Germans and their allies, the Italians under Benito Mussolini, also mobilized.

The support Czechoslovakia hoped for was there. Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Munich to meet with Hitler. The French, Prague's ally for 20 years joined in the appeasement move: the Sudetenland to avoid Nazi invasion and to save the peace of Europe. Moscow was convulsed at the time by an enormous Stalin blood purge.

The Czechs received a Hitler ultimatum: yield by Oct. 1 or face invasion. On Sept. 30, Britain and France reached their agreement with Hitler. Czechoslovakia was to be sacrificed. There are indications today

Starving Millions Result of Civil War

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) -- A world appalled at the threat of starving millions has suddenly taken notice of the Nigerian civil war more than a year after the bloody conflict began.

The fighting has trapped uncounted refugees without food and torn apart a nation which the West once thought was democracy's brightest hope in Africa.

Now, while the war continues, efforts are being made to negotiate a cease-fire and, under international auspices, save lives with shipments of food.

But why this tragedy? What is the war about?

Basically, the self-proclaimed Republic of Biafra is fighting for independence from the Federation of Nigeria, the most populous state in Africa, an area equal to Texas and Louisiana combined.

The issues are more complex and a basic human distrust between three major groups of tribes. They had been warring since the British into what is known as Nigeria in 1914 and told that they were a sovereign nation on Oct. 1, 1960.

The groups are the Hausa-Fulani of the Islamic North, the Yorubas of the West, and the Ibos of the East.

The British and the Western world in general were pleased with the peaceful transition to independence in 1960. But Nigeria shared the problems of most new countries—a lack of skilled people, money-grasping politicians with no sense of nationalhood, and an essentially provincial population. It had the additional problems of vast size and population.

When the crash came it was one of Africa's loudest. Lt. Col. C. Oduwegwu Ojukwu, a 34-year-old bearded Oxford University history major and maverick son of one of Nigeria's wealthiest men, proclaimed the independence of Nigeria's Eastern region May 30, 1967.

Six weeks later, on July 6, Biafra and the federal government were at war. The act followed a period which from Jan. 15, 1966, saw two military coups and a series of massacres in which 30,000 Ibos were slaughtered.

The federal government claimed Ojukwu and his followers were power hungry, seeking to control the oil in Eastern Nigeria, and trying to impose Ibo domination.

Biafra, the former Eastern region, had 29,000 square miles with a population of about 14 million. About 8 million were in the group to which Ojukwu belonged.

Other tribes distrusted them because they showed considerable aptitude and interest in Western education and the need in a modern nation.

The continued fighting, between three major groups of tribes, has shrunk Biafra to about 10,000 square miles. Federal troops have recaptured most areas along the coast, the Niger River delta, and the Cameroon border.

After a six-week occupation of the Midwest region, the Biafrans' 40,000 men have been on a steady retreat while maintaining nuisance counterattacks. The Biafrans never overcame a federal land and sea blockade but a shuttle of chartered Super Constellations flying from Lisbon has delivered arms and ammunition. The Biafrans hired some mercenaries, but most quit.

It is estimated the Biafrans had $180 million dollars to spend on the war. The federal government has drawn $154 million from its hard currency reserves to arm its army and increase its tenfold to 80,000 men.

After a reluctant start, Britain has been Nigeria's most consistent arms supplier.

Warren Hot Stovers Win In Extra Innings, 2-1

By DAN PRATZ
The Hot Stove All-Stars squeezed past the Long Island All-Stars 2-1 in the last two innings of last night's game as Dan Briggs led the attack by smashing a homer over the fence in center field in the bottom of the eighth and a line drive out

In typical fashion of the City League and Rec. League, they have embarked on another worthy project as they have done so many times in years past. This year they have selected a benefit night for this Sunday evening to help out Lee Anderson, nine, of Central Avenue, who has undergone a major operation and is still on follow-up treatment. An interesting doubleheader has been set up with the first game featuring the Local 469 of the State Hospital and the unforgettable Old Timers of the City League. Nick Tomassoni has pitched his Mineral Well Mets in the finale against the terrors of the Rec. League, City Ice and Beverage. Tony "Satchel Paige" Tomassoni is bringing his entry into the game with an astonishing 24-1 record over a five-year span. Tomassoni has reached into the City League's Hall of Fame and has come up with ball players whose names still ring a bell, such as: Ange Regina, Warren Check, John Pollack, Marshall Lemman, Bill Massa, Gene Sweet, Jack Morrison, "Honey" Font, Monk Murphy, himself and a host of others that are still whipping into shape. Nick Tomassoni, skipper of the Mineral Well club claims that since he has pulled out of the Rec. League there hasn't been any real competition for the City Ice club to face. He remembers the times when his Mets used to handle the League-leading Beverage, five out of six games every year. The point that he wants to prove is that the Mets can still reign over any club in the opposing league. Don "Bub" Cummings of City Ice hopes to prove him wrong when he sends his sixteen-game winner, Charlie Pettit to the mound. A large turnout is expected for this cause and according to the minds in back of the project, nobody will go away without at least a belly-full of laughs.

American League

Tigers Claw Birds
BALTIMORE (AP) — Rookie reliever Daryl Patterson fanned three Baltimore batters with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, preserving first place Detroit's 4-1 victory over the runner-up Orioles Friday night. The Tigers, in a 7-9 slump since the All-Star break, increased their American League lead to 6½ games over the Orioles. Patterson, the third Detroit hurler in the sixth, struck out pinch hitter Fred Valentine and Brooks Robinson on seven pitches, and then Dave Johnson took a third strike 3-2 pitch. Winner Earl Wilson, 8-8, who left with an aching left knee, and John Warden had loaded the bases on two singles and a walk. Detroit broke a scoreless duel against Jim Hardin, 12-6, in the fifth when Willie Horton doubled and scored on Bill Freehan's hit and Dick McAuliffe later singled in Don Wert.

Red Sox Drop Nats
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Ellsworth spun a seven-hitter and the Boston Red Sox spilled the Washington Senators Friday night as Elston Howard homered and Reggie Smith singled in the other run. Ellsworth, 9-5, held Washington hitless until Frank Howard lined a single in the fifth inning. The Senators scored in the ninth on three singles, the last by Paul Casanova.

HOT STOVE
Holcomb Wins, 11-10
Holcomb and Sons overcame an 8-0 deficit to defeat Weldon and Sons 11-10. Donny Stec picked up the win in relief of Hodak. The winners' hitting attack was led by Joe Lynch, who bombed a homer and Bob Graham, who had a four-four night, including a double. Bill Kibby hurled and clubbed a double and a triple in the losers' cause. Kim Vanderhoof also had a triple for Weldon. Holcomb and Sons finished the season with a 14-1 mark.

Construction Takes 1st
Kinza Construction picked up its first win of the season with a 14-11 win over Moose Club. Mike Hezel hurried for the win, Neal Waxman led the hitters with a two-for-two night. Bob Hanson bombed a triple and Constable chipped in with a double. Donbeck went three-for-four for the losers, including a homer. Jermain knocked a double for Moose. Dave Griffin was tagged with the defeat for the losers.

Savings Trips Eagles
Northwest Savings downed the Eagles 7-2. Alan Torrance pitched for the win and aided his own cause with a double. Scott O'Neill also had a double for the winners. Greg Redding took the mound defeat and hit a triple. Scott Kornreich and Mark Singer each smashed a double in the losing cause.

tom of the seventh sending the game into extra innings. The contest only needed one extra inning to decide the winner after Briggs' homer which tied the game at 1-1. It was a bases loaded situation in the bottom of the eighth and a line drive out center, off the bat of Mike Piehuta that saved the day for Warren by giving them the go ahead point. Bob Morgan and Greg Knight teamed up in the first stanza of the contest to give the Long Islanders their score. Morgan rapped a three-bagger into center field and then Knight sacrificed a bunt to bring Morgan in for the score.

The real battle was staged between the pitchers, Gary Sodek and Mike Ruppel. Sodek picked up the win as he fanned 14 batters and Ruppel fought just as hard a battle despite the loss as he sent 16 batters down swinging.

The Hot Stove machinery failed to click in the first six innings of the game. Glen Belleau cracked a triple in the second but remained on the bag as the other batters were sent down swinging.

Belleau once more made a drive in the fifth after he singled and then stole two bases. However, he was once more left on base. The Hot Stovers second run came after the bases were loaded in the bottom of the eighth and Piehuta cracked his line drive.

Two really fantastic catches were made in the game, both in the outfield. Mike O'Neill bent over backwards to snag a pop fly that fell beside the fence. Rick Tomassoni exchanged the catch for Warren as he practically stood on his head to scoop up a ball that was smashed into right field.

The contest was viewed by what was termed the most fans Carbon Park has ever seen. The crowd was tremendous and so was the response that cheered both teams on to victory with the true "Warren" tradition.

Cards and Bucs Split
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jose Pagan's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and a split of their twilight doubleheader Friday.

The Cardinals won the first game 9-1 as Julian Javier drove in three runs and Roger Maris and Mike Shannon two each behind the seven-hit pitching of Nelson Briles.

Gene Alley started the winning second-game rally with a one-out single. Matty Alou followed with an infield hit and the runners advanced to second and third when loser Wayne Granger missed the throw while covering first base. After an intentional walk, Joe Hoerner relieved and pinch hitter Pagan flied to left field, ending St. Louis' five-game winning streak and Pittsburgh's four-game losing streak.

Maris tied the second game 4-4 in the eighth when he singled home Bob Tolan, who had doubled.

Roberto Clemente, who returned to the line-up after a week's absence because of a shoulder injury, slammed a solo homer in the sixth to give Pittsburgh a 4-3 lead.

Maris hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning of the opener and Shannon singled in two runs in the three-run seventh. Javier doubled home one of two runs in the fourth and singled home runs in the seventh and ninth.

Braves Take Two
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hank Aaron's two-out, three-run homer in the ninth inning powered Atlanta past the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 Friday night and then the Braves completed a doubleheader sweep 3-2 on the hitting of Joe Torre.

The double losses stretched the Phils' losing streak to nine games. The Braves have won four straight.

Dark Mirage Heavy Favorite In Today's Delaware Oaks

STANTON, Del. (AP) — A sure thing in horse racing supposedly is unheard of but Dark Mirage comes pretty close to breaking down that theory in Saturday's $58,000 added Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park. Lloyd I. Miller's filly carries top weight of 121 pounds in the 1½-mile race for 3-year-old fillies and is a top heavy favorite to score her ninth straight victory and eighth consecutive stakes triumph.

The Oaks figures as close to a one-horse race as the day 19 years ago when Coaltown ran without opposition at Havre de Grace in the Edward Burke Handicap. There will be three opponents for Dark Mirage, but unless the year's big upset in racing is in the making, the Miller filly might just as well run alone.

Because of the low number of entries, the race will be run as an exhibition — with no betting allowed. Slated to face Dark Mirage are Louise Clements' Sale Day, and Walter M. Jeffords Jr.'s entry of Singing Rain and Inge, Manny Ycaza will ride Dark Mirage, with Larry Goldberg aboard Sale Day, and Garth Patterson handling Singing Rain.

With such a small field, the three trying to beat the stand-out favorite probably can't even count on Dark Mirage running into bad racing luck. Nothing can be discounted, however. Two years ago Ycaza fouled Dr. Fager in the Jersey Derby at Garden State in a three-horse race he won by 10 lengths. The foul was at the first turn.

Dark Mirage is the first horse to sweep New York's triple crown for fillies, and has won her last three races by 4, 12 and 10 lengths. She isn't likely to be run into the ground by any speedball, since she doesn't run on the front end early. She makes her move in the late running.

Should she win the Oaks, and most experts indicate she'd have to fall down to lose, Dark Mirage may be brought back Aug. 3 for the $100,000 Delaware Handicap at Delaware Park. A victory against the older horses in the Delaware might earn the classy filly horse of the year honors. Since polls were started in 1936, only two fillies ever have won that honor, Twilight

Stateline Schedules Mid-Season Championship

BUSTI, N.Y.—With just a little less than half the season remaining, the 50-lap Mid-Season Championship race at Stateline Speedway Saturday night will be no ordinary feature for more than thirty New Car drivers.

Just six weekends of racing are left following Saturday's card and if any of the local drivers have hopes of unseating current point leader Bob Schnars they had better make their move soon.

The local driver has already accumulated 500 more points than his nearest competitor in the Stateline standings and his lead is so great that he could completely drop out of this week's feature and still retain his front position.

Schnars has won four features on the local one-third mile speedway driving a 1968 Javelin, one of the few American Motors sports prototypes competing on a weekly stock car circuit.

Jamestown's Fred Knapp has the best chance of upsetting Schnars especially after his fine record of last weekend. Knapp, who currently is in second place in the standings, won the Eriez 25-lapper and took a fourth at Stateline.

Former track champion Squirt Johns along with two-time Stateline feature winner Jim Scott and Tom Dill, last week's main event victor, will also be expected to give Schnars his stiffest competition to date.

The Sportsmen division, however, has taken on a new look as Ron Blackmer, who had his own monopoly on the class, winning ten successive features without a loss, has failed to win a main event in two weeks.

Defending track champion Lyle Brown seems to be back in his 1967 form as he made a clean sweep of the features Saturday and Sunday. Jay Plyler and Skip Furlow will also be on hand for added Blackmer competition.

'Not Again,' Says Big D, But Rumors Are Flying

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitching ace Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers flatly denied Friday that he's thinking of retiring to become a pitching coach with the newlyfranchised San Diego team.

"Not again," groaned the 31-year-old right-hander when asked if there was anything to such rumors. One of the stories had it that Drysdale plans to demand $200,000 from the Dodgers next season in an effort to force his release to the San Diego Club.

"Ridiculous, absolutely ridiculous," said Drysdale, who earlier this season hurled a record six straight shutouts and posted 58 scoreless innings. "I've been denying these stories for two weeks, and I hope this will be the last time I'll have to deny it," said Drysdale. "I have no plans of retiring

The blue and gold of Eisenhower High School is twirled by Pat Kane of the Eisenhower Lancers. Marching under the slogan "Proud of Our School—Proud of Our Country, we the Lancers march into the future," the drill team has set out to be their school's ambassadors.

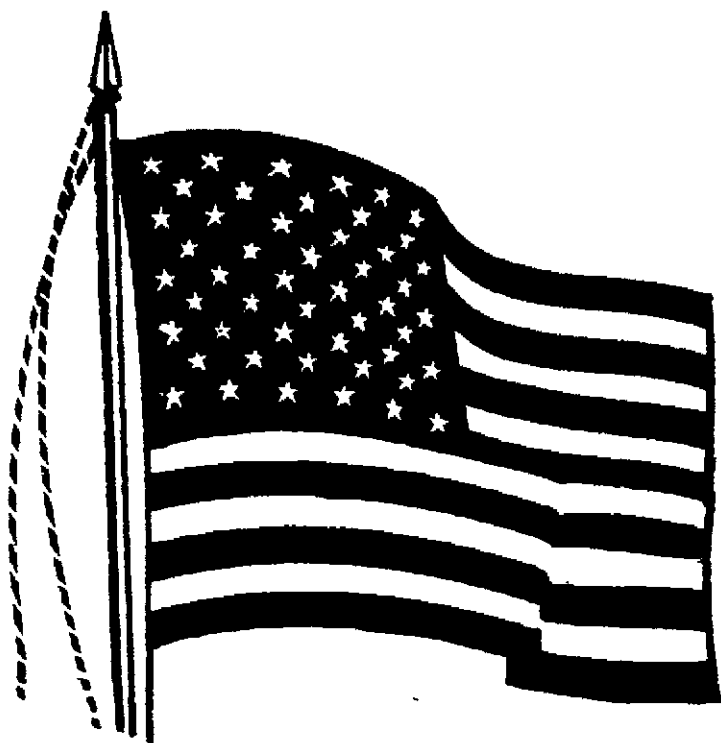

EISENHOWER HIGH'S MILITARY DRILL TEAM

The Eisenhower Lancers, crack military drill team, met Monday night for a full dress rehearsal in preparation for an appearance today at the annual Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department's parade. The group numbering 51 from the ages 13-17, formerly known as the Pom Pom girls, began the transition to a military drill team in the fall of 1965. Mrs. Lynne Ayres Nadal is director with Miss Ann Wiltsie her assistant. The minute miss, pictured, is Kara Lyn Nadal, 5, who makes her first appearance today as corps mascot.

Eisenhower Lancers Area's Crack Drill Team

The Eisenhower Lancers, crack girls' drill team of the area, march today in the Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department's annual parade.

The team, with a total membership of 51, will also include Kara Lyn Nadal, making her initial appearance as corps mascot.

Originally known as the Pom Pom girls, the Eisenhower Lancers began the transition to a military drill team in the fall of 1965. At that time they adopted their new name and present blue velveteen uniforms.

Later in 1965 their crest, a gold shield bearing their name and two crossed lances, was adopted and their motto was presented and accepted.

Marching under the slogan "Proud of Our School-Proud of Our Country, We, the Lancers, march into the future," the Lancers set out to become Eisenhower High School's marching ambassadors.

The purchase of four white rifles, the national and state flags, four blue and gold flags and two drums added to the color and unity of the organization.

In three years the membership of the Lancers tripled with tryouts becoming an ordeal for all members. No girl is assured re-admittance. Tryouts are conducted and each person admitted is presented a white rose when school opens the following morning.

Led by Color Sergeant Nancy Wilcox, who carries a military sabre loaned the group by Colonel Edward R. Ayres, U.S. Army Retired of Sheffield, the corps has made numerous public appearances. Under the direction of Miss Wilcox, Drill Sergeant Joanne Kane and Sergeant of Arms Pam Johnson direct the maneuvers of the corps and color guard.

A 1968 addition to the color guard has been a black flag emblazoned with three gold stars. Sergeant of Arms Pam Johnson created this flag in memory of Raymond Abbott, Quentin Slocum and Frank Gregory, three members of Eisenhower's class of 1965 who were killed in Vietnam.

The Lancers are under the direction of Mrs. Lynne Ayres Nadal with Miss Ann Wiltsie serving as assistant. Mr. and Mrs. William Channing serve in the capacity of parental directors and corps advisors to the staff.

The Lancers, who added 30 new members this year, are planning to enlarge with each of the state flags. They are currently trying to raise funds so that eventually each girl on the team will carry either a rifle or flag. The corps includes girls from grades 8 through 12 and are from 13 to 17-years-old. The Senior Girls' Faculty advisor directs decisions on memberships.

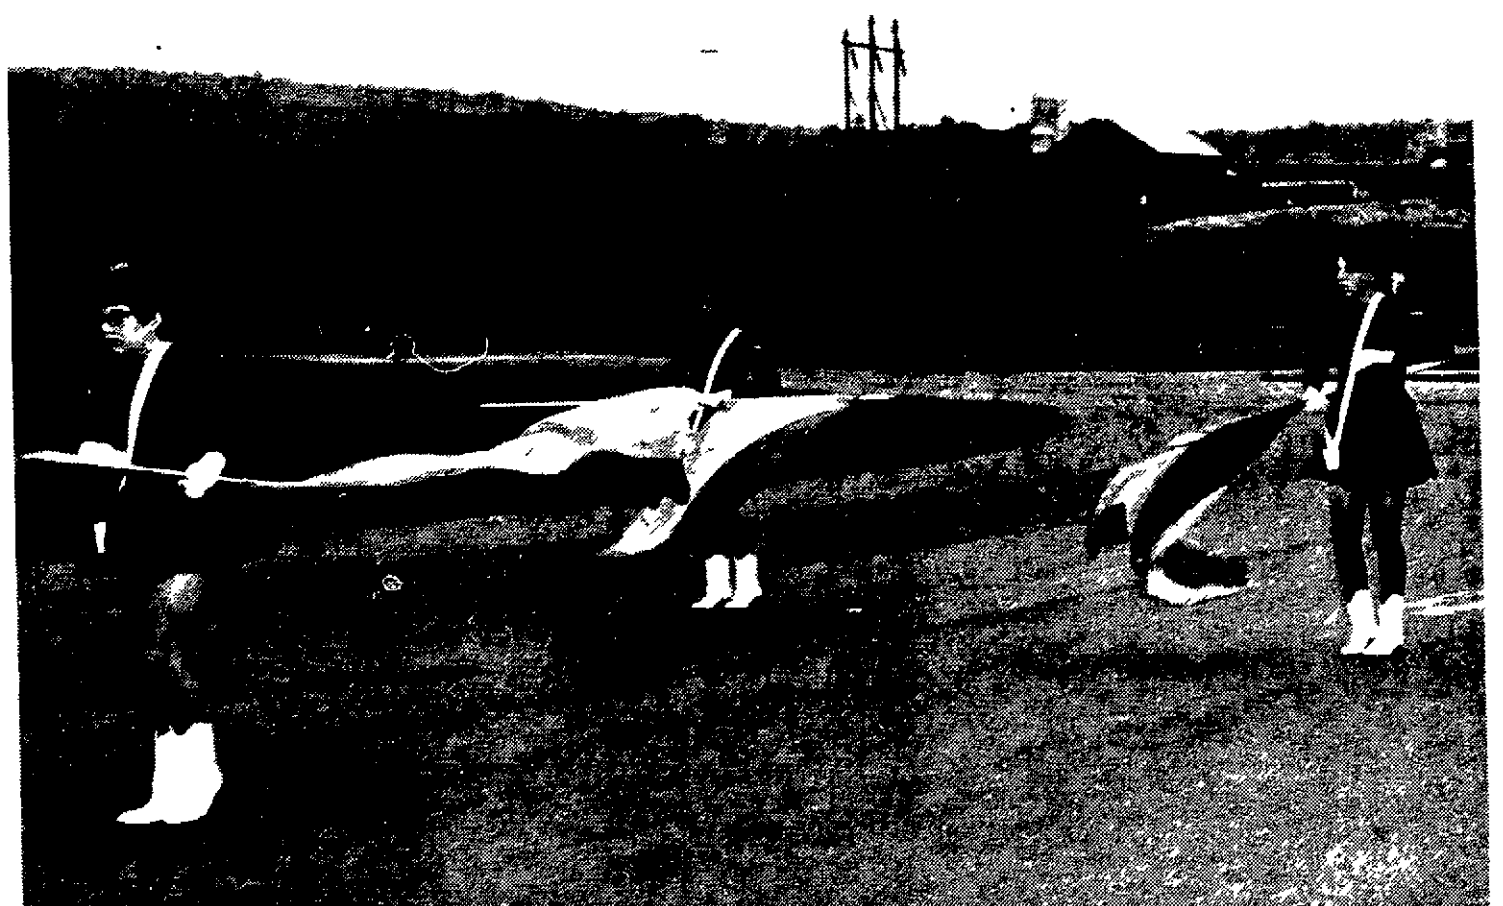

While representing Eisenhower School, the military drill team receives no financial assistance from the school. At the present time letters are being sent in the hope of securing contributions from interested persons.

TWIRL BANNERS

Twirling of banners in line of march adds color and zest to the Eisenhower Lancers. Military drill is a specialty with the group with tryouts held annually. Those selected for the corps are presented a white rose to mark their becoming a member of the group.

STEP SMARTLY

Stepping out smartly, the Eisenhower Lancers prepare for another public appearance after marching in the 1968 Fourth of July parade in Warren. The corps carries the national and state flags, four blue and gold flags and a black flag emblazoned with three gold stars in memory of three Eisenhower School graduates who were killed in Vietnam.

'AT EASE'

Gail Riley of the 51-girl strong Eisenhower Lancers military drill team assumes a typical "at ease" pose during rehearsal for an appearance in Sheffield today. The group is currently trying to raise funds so each member can carry either a white rifle or flag. Kathy Loomis is in the background.

Camp Onyahsa Sets Record

Two hundred and thirty boys and girls have enjoyed the Warren YMCA day camp program this year. This number sets a record high for the camping sessions.

The 1968 camping sessions will end with two weeks of resident camp at Camp Onyahsa on Chautauqua. Resident camp is open to both YMCA members and nonmembers. The fee for members is $30, and $33 for nonmembers. Boys ages 8-14 are eligible.

Camp Onyahsa is the Jamestown YMCA camp located near Mayville, N.Y. The camping program includes pioneering, archery, crafts, boating, swimming, outdoor camping, water skiing, power boating, and sailing.

Adventure camp for boys 12 or older will train the boys in wilderness living. The group is limited to eight boys.

There are still vacancies open for resident camp. Anyone interested should get an application at the YMCA.

Canadian Indians cross United States borders under an old law assuring them free access as native North Americans, the National Geographic says.

Playground Activities

The Bicycle Hike - Chapman Dam swim was cancelled last Wednesday due to rain and has been re-scheduled for this Wednesday. Children will be notified at their respective playgrounds for scheduled time. Over 260 children participated in the Chapman Dam swim trips last week. Any youngster desiring to participate in Chapman Dam swim trips should ask his playground teacher the scheduled times for bus pickups at his playground. The swimming instruction classes are filled to capacity at the Youngsville swimming pool and attendance has been excellent.

Many children took part in the various playground activities last week, and winners were declared in the apple-dunking contest, ball bouncing skills, badminton skills, and rope-jumping contests. Hundreds of stuffed animals were exhibited throughout the county playgrounds for the stuffed animal contest. This proved to be very difficult for supervisors to judge the various winners. The tether ball tournament after week long eliminations, was held last Friday at Memorial Playground. Of the 32 children that participated in the finals the following were winners:

Bantam Division: 1. Greg Redding, DeFrees; 2. Bill Cunningham, Memorial; 3. Greg Williams, Pleasant.

Midget Division: 1. Elaine Bennett, DeFrees; 2. Tony Pelligrino, Beaty; 3. Lynn Brown, Memorial.

Junior Division: 1. Bill Caldwell, Memorial; 2. Steve Bowles, Beaty; 3. Rick Tomassoni, Carbon.

Senior Division: 1. Stan Maines, Memorial; 2. Linda Moore, Crescent; 3. Sue Dunkle, Lacy.

At Clarendon playground, Melody Sanders and Scott Blume were winners of the Badminton Tournament. Matt Ash and Kevin Peck were winners in the minnow and crayfish contest held at North Warren playground last week. Tim Miller was declared the dodge ball champion at Youngsville playground and Donald See was winner of the Know Youngsville Day. Tom Hetrick won the ball-bouncing contest at Starbrick playground. Many other winners were also recorded throughout the week and children received prizes for their participation.

This week the children in Warren County will find another busy week participating in games, know their community contests, bike hike, swim trips, and basketball shooting skills. A number of playground softball and kickball games have been scheduled along with a number of other inter-playground activities.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I made a towel rack for the inside of the wooden door below my sink.

With small screws, I attached two window shade brackets about a foot apart up near the inside top of the door. Just so the brackets are not in the way when the door closes.

Then I cut off an old broom handle the length between the brackets and nailed it in place, with the nails going through the holes in the brackets and into the ends of the stick.

Mrs. Lawson

DEAR HELOISE:

When the elastic comes out of knee-high stockings, or they just won't stay up, I take some stretch elastic and sew it in a circle. Then sew it around the top from the inside of the sock.

If you can't get elastic the same color as the sock, just sew the elastic to the inside of the sock.

Margaret King

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

A man in my office said he always reads your hints. Keeps him one up on his wife.

Eve Dietrich

DEAR HELOISE:

I would like to share an idea I find helpful.

Take a wire clotheshanger and pull the bottom crosswire down from the hook until the side corners are completely bent together, making a long handle. Then use this to pull things to the front of high shelves that would otherwise require a step-stool to reach to the back.

I keep one in every closet including the utility closet and save lots of climbing and reaching.

Mrs. E. Davis

You're short, too, eh?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

During the hot weather, the sandwiches in my lunch were spoiling at work. So my solution was to fill an empty milk carton with water and freeze it overnight.

In the morning I pack it in my lunch pail next to my sandwich.

Now I have a cold, fresh sandwich and as the ice melts, I also have a cold drink throughout the day.

Pearl Drucker

DEAR HELOISE:

If you have an upright vacuum cleaner, you can vacuum right up to the edges of your room-size rug and wall-to-wall bathroom rugs by "walking" in it's most upright position, and then as you near the edge . . . just slightly tilt it backwards. (It "locks", you know.)

This way the rollers in the front of the machine do not touch the edge of the rug but the suction brings the dust up right from the edge of the rug.

Jane W.

And to think of all the years they have sold upright vacuum cleaners and nobody had ever mentioned this before . . . Isn't Jane terrific? Works, too.

To achieve their unique quality, the group is constantly experimenting with harmonic patterns and instrumentation — Their latest is their album "Love Is A State of Mind." The six boys and two girls have appeared at 800 colleges, performed in 49 states, and 15 countries. They travel about 200,000 miles each year. Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 20-year-old daughter met a graduate student at school several months ago. Last weekend she invited Byron to spend a few days with us so he could meet the family and the family could meet him.

My husband and I found him tense, strained, humorless and uncommunicative. We could have overlooked all this since Byron knew he was being "inspected," but we can't overlook his atrocious manners.

The moment the food appeared Byron rushed to the buffet table, piled up a plate as if there were no tomorrow and spilled gravy on the cloth. He didn't look for anyone with whom to enjoy his dinner — simply shoveled in the food and raced back in line a second time.

At breakfast I mentioned this to Alicia and she became incensed. She says manners are not important, that Byron has a beautiful mind and lofty principles and she finds him enormously appealing. Any comment? — BYSTANDERS

DEAR BY: Byron may be appealing today but if she marries him she might find him appalling.

Manners ARE important — and I don't mean which fork to use, I mean being thoughtful and putting others before oneself.

Byron is a pig about food which indicates a high degree of selfishness. The trait may run through his entire personality. I hope your daughter recognizes his bad manners for what they are.

MISS USHIODA

Japanese Violinist To Perform

Chautauqua, New York — Masuko Ushioda, young Japanese violinist and 2nd place winner in the recent Tchaikovsky competitions in Moscow, will perform with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra tonight (Saturday) at 8:30 in the amphitheater. Miss Ushioda will play the Brahms Concerto in D for Violin with the orchestra. The orchestra, conducted by Walter Hendl, will play Carnival Overture by Dvorak and Mendelssohn's Third Symphony.

Miss Ushioda began to study the violin as a young girl and in 1957, when she was fourteen, she had won first prize in Japan's foremost music competition, the Mainichi music contest. She went to Leningrad in 1961 upon the invitation of the Soviet government to study with Michael Weisman at the Leningrad State Music Academy.

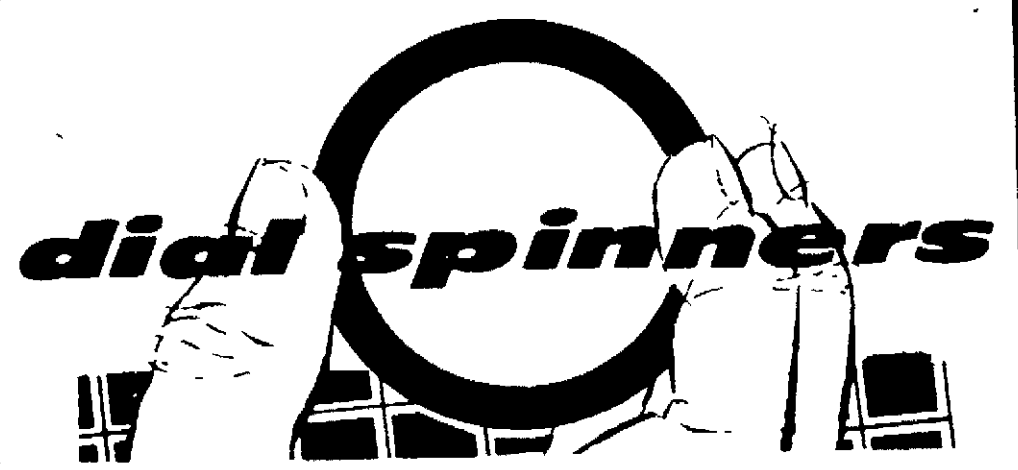

From 1963 on, she has had the great and rare privilege of studying with Mr. Joseph Szigeti in Switzerland. He has been her musical inspiration and mentor during the crucial years when she has been growing towards her maturity as an artist.

Now twenty-five years old, Miss Ushioda is embarking on her third concert tour of the United States. In 1963 she toured the country as soloist with the Toho String Orchestra and in 1965 returned to make a sold-out tour of twenty-three appearances at colleges and universities all over the United States. Now at twenty-five Miss Ushioda is the most sought-after Japanese violinist not only in her own Japan, but also in Europe and the USSR. During the 1967-68 season, Miss Ushioda gave many concerts including appearances with the London Symphony in London, the Concertgebouw Orchestra in Amsterdam and a series of concerts in Vienna. She is making her first American tour since placing in the Tchaikovsky competition.

HOUSING LACK SEEN

JERUSALEM (AP)--Housing Minister Mordechai Bentov has warned that Israel faces a critical shortage of apartments--the main type of dwelling in Israel--by the end of next year unless private building picks up more rapidly following last year's economic recession.

Wedding Vows Solemnized In Omaha, Nebraska, Ceremony

A canopy decorated with pink and white carnations and banked with palms provided the setting for the recent wedding of Barbara Francine Parilman and Hershel I. Shulman at the Beth Israel Synagogue in Omaha, Nebraska. Officiating were Rabbi Isaac Nadoff, Rabbi Herbert Berger, Aaron Shulman, grandfather of the groom, and Cantor Jacob Lefkowitz.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Parilman, 1010 N. 49th, Omaha, Nebraska, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shulman, Warren, Pa.

The bride wore a floor-length skimmer of silk organza over taffeta. Hand-clipped Chantilly lace, encrusted with miniature seed pearls, styled the kabuki sleeves and overlays of the jeweled lace accented the entire front panel. Chantilly lace appliques likewise adorned the detachable train of silk organza which swept to demi-cathedral length. A jewel-trimmed headband of imported lace and organza flowers held her bouffant triple-tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Glazer, Sherman Oaks, Calif., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a sleeveless sea spray chiffon floor-length gown styled in a cage silhouette. A matching floral cluster held her tiered veil and she carried a bouquet of elegance carnations. The attendants, Mrs. Melvin Epstein, Beverly Weisberg and Marlene Glazer, Sherman Oaks, Calif., wore gowns identical to that of the honor attendant.

Best man was Jacob Shulman, brother of the bridegroom, Chicago. Groomsmen were Marvin Parilman, brother of the bride, Carroll Eberly and Howard Hunter. Lt. Lonnie Harde-mon, Birmingham, Ala., and Frank Fernald ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Parilman selected a floor-length sheath of mint green crepe accented with silver and crystal beading. Mrs. Shulman selected a floor-length pink gown.

A dinner and dance were held in the Palace Ballroom of the New Tower Motel.

For a short wedding trip the bride wore a white linen sheath with pink accessories.

The Shulmans will make their home at 2013 Benson Gardens blvd., Omaha, Nebraska.

And The Angel

of Revelations said, "Gather the clusters of the vine of the earth, for her grapes are fully ripe." How beautiful! How far reaching is this challenge! It is up to us. Throughout the Bible the grape and the vine hold great spiritual meaning. They emphasize the close union between Christ and His church. We judge the vine from the fruit it bears. St. John warned us in the first place, that the branch cannot bear fruit, except it abide in the Lord. In a spiritual sense, man makes his own harvest. His reaping is strictly in accordance with how well he has taken care of the vineyard, how thoroughly he has supported the charities of the Lord, and how genuinely he has served God.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Have We Become Ungovernable?

The (London) Sunday Times features an extensive article entitled "How the Democrats are tearing themselves apart," which leads off with a startling quotation, or rather misquotation, from Mr. Gerry Bush of the staff of Mr. Hubert Humphrey. "We can win the election in November. But then — can we govern the country?"

Buckley

Mr. Bush is identified in the article as "an able young Democrat who has emerged as one of the most effective members of presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey's campaign team. His concern was serious, and he is not alone."

Actually, says Mr. Bush, his stated worries were by no means confined to the difficulties that a Humphrey Administration would have in governing the country. He meant that the serious question has arisen: can ANYONE govern the country? I asked him whether he agreed with the thesis that what one might call the McCarthy wing of American politics has acquired a singular leverage, inasmuch as they are the people who threaten ungovernability, not the others. If Hubert Humphrey is elected President, the followers of Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan are not going to start burning down their Union League clubs or their masonic lodges. But some of the followers of Eugene McCarthy are, as some of them have put it, disposed to burn, baby, burn. Does this mean that the unruly left has maneuvered into a position whence blackmail is effectively exerted? Vote our man in — or else we shall disrupt the republic?

Mr. Bush shrinks from what he calls a partisan rendering of his misgivings, and indeed he remarked dutifully that the threat of disruption from the right is potentially just as great as from the left. We couldn't, in the few minutes' conversation over the telephone, come up with any right wing analogue of the doctors and preachers who are calling for civil disobedience, or of the students who prevent other students from exercising their civil rights and who occupy whole campuses (Mr. Bush came into government via UCal in Berkeley), or of the left-winger who every now and then shoots a President, or a presidential aspirant.

One has to go back to the Ku Klux Klan to come up with Violence on the Right; but the Klan and its following is, blessedly, diminishing, and even George Wallace disdains any association with it. An extreme right wing which was unsuccessful in getting a single Congressman to call for the impeachment of Earl Warren is not likely to make America ungovernable.

No, Mr. Bush — and Mr. Humphrey presumably — are on to something very very important and very alarming, and are understandably reluctant to acknowledge that the trouble tends to come from people whose votes they will shortly be soliciting: the American left. It is only true that the American Right is a possible source of disorder in the sense that the American Right, at the margin, would no doubt resort to force in order to re-establish order. In that sense, it can be said that the American Right is as much of a threat to America as the generals were to Argentina and Brazil who finally got around to kicking out Peron and Goulart.

Would Senator McCarthy himself contribute to the dissolution of government? Would he run on a separate ticket? "At the moment," says the TIMES, "he says no — and must, of course, till convention time. But he says he might support it. If the year has established anything about that complex personality, it is that McCarthy is most dangerous when he thinks he has been double-crossed, as when Robert Kennedy moved in after New Hampshire or his New York supporters were railroaded a few days ago. Each time his staff detected a renewed appetite for battle; and a raw deal in Chicago or on the way to Chicago, might well shatter his loyalty to the Democratic Party." Leaving only his loyalty to the republic.

Hampers Democracy

WASHINGTON—One of the best ways to block the trend toward democracy in the communist world was given by Edgar Eisenhower, brother of ex-President Eisenhower, in a recent letter to Seattle voters. It will be of no help to Czechoslovakian citizens now struggling to defeat hard-line, orthodox communism.

In a letter addressed "to fellow American," Edgar Eisenhower enclosed a blue-and-white window sticker featuring an appeal, "Help stop U.S.-communist trade"; then called upon Washington State voters to defeat Sen. Warren G. Magnuson because he had "introduced legislation for the Johnson administration favoring an increase in such trade."

"I am writing you because you have shown deep concern in the past about the future of this country," continued the ex-President's brother. "I am asking you to help us defeat Sen. Magnuson. His defeat would be dramatic proof that Americans want trade with the communists stopped."

The unfortunate thing about Edgar Eisenhower's letter is that people in the communist world do not realize that he does not represent the views of his brother, the ex-President. Dwight D. Eisenhower followed the policy started by President Truman of trading with Eastern European communist countries — a policy followed by President Kennedy and President Johnson. President Eisenhower was actually attacked by members of his own party, particularly Sen. John Tower, Tex., for selling jet fighter planes to Yugoslavia.

Other Republicans, including Rep. Paul Findlay, Ill., have tried to stop the shipment of surplus American wheat to Yugoslavia, Poland, and other, smaller European communist countries.

However, this bipartisan policy of trading with Eastern Europe has paid off — as witnessed now by the democratic surge in Czechoslovakia.

Sen. Magnuson was carrying out this bipartisan policy when he introduced Senate bill S-3363 favoring increased trade with the European communist world.

RICHARD HARATINE

The Gun Law

HARRISBURG — For all the four hours and thirty minutes of floor debate, the most eloquent arguments leading to the defeat of gun registration were not mounted on the floor of the House of Representatives. The basic script was written and performed in the House lobby; in its committee sessions; via a phone contacts from the "folks" back home; and at meetings like the victory rally held in Johnstown the night after the proposal was defeated.

"Are we going to submit to the traitors, enemies, criminals in our midst?"

The question was posed by Army Colonel (ret.) John Lee, a self-styled "country boy from South Carolina", eastern representative of the National Rifle Association. He spoke at the Cambria County War Memorial before an audience packed with representatives of over 100 sportsmen's clubs in southwestern Pennsylvania. Said Lee:

"We're not going to let some city dude who doesn't know one end of a gun from another take our guns away from us." The reference, in this case, was to Rep. Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, who joined with a Republican governor in the effort to register the long guns and their owners.

On the same night, describing himself as a "red-blooded, gun totin' American", Sen. Richard J. Green, R-Cambria, disclosed that, "Hitler was able to disarm whole countries in one day because there was a list of gun owners in every city hall." He promised that — if gun registration comes up again — he will filibuster against it.

The issue, of course, was not debated in the Senate.

On the floor of the House, Rep. John F. Laudadio, once president, and now secretary of the 140,000-member Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Federation, mostly hunters, was more perspicacious. He passed his turn as round-up speaker against the proposal with the brief comment that the members of the House "know how I feel."

"The next move," Laudadio had warned in press statements and in the Democratic caucus, "will be to confiscate all sporting weapons."

Added Laudadio: "Freedom of the press will go next when the law abiding citizen loses his right to bear arms. The newspapers don't know what they're in for. There is a Communist conspiracy in this land to take away what we fought for 190 years."

Operating in the House lobby, meanwhile, was a state employee, William E. Guckert, Director of Bituminous Conservation and Reclamation for the state. His presence was punctuated by reports from at least six Republican House members that Guckert had warned them they would "get murdered at the polls in November", if they supported gun registration. It was a twist of language that took on a spooky connotation some days later when Minority Leader Fineman reported threats on his life after his impassioned fight in favor of gun controls.

Governor Shafer, just as ardent as Rep. Fineman in favor of gun registration, ordered Guckert to stop lobbying against the idea on State time; this Guckert agreed to do.

But, he told the Governor's secretary, "Anybody who thinks he can shut me up is just a cockeyed fool."

"I am from Pittsburgh," Guckert later explained, "and during the riots this spring the only security was in the guns people had in their homes. Without a gun in your home today, you have no security."

The proposal, of course, would not have taken guns away from normal people. But, under it, State police could deny gun registration to narcotics addicts, former mental patients, convicted criminals, and youngsters under 18 who do not have parental consent.

As the debate opened, Rep. Stanley Kester, R-Delaware, called for a test of the constitutionality of the issue. "The right of the citizens to bear arms in defense of themselves and the State shall not be questioned," said Rep. Kester, quoting the Constitution.

But, Rep. Laudadio wanted a clear test. He urged Kester to recede the Constitutional issue and to let the opposition defeat it in the normal legislative way, which it did.
